What We Need From You — Reviews & Proof

This replaces the sheet from 17 August. The pricing questions are off the list — you said prices don't belong on the pages, so we took them off. What's left is proof.

1 SIX GOOGLE REVIEWS

BLOCKS THE ADS

- Pick six from your Google Business Profile. For each one we need three things: the review text, the customer's first name and last initial, and the town they live in.
- Spread them across towns if you can. One in Warren, one in Princeton, one in Hillsborough — better than six from the same street.
- If you can't remember someone's town, just send the name and we'll ask you about it. Don't guess.

	REVIEW — FIRST FEW WORDS	NAME	TOWN
1
2
3
4
5
6

Why it matters: the new page is built on proof instead of price. A homeowner in Warren reading a review from someone two streets over does more work than any headline we could write. Right now those pages literally display "[Paste a real Google review here]".

2 WHICH TOWNS ARE YOU ACTUALLY WORKING IN?

BLOCKS THE ADS

- The website currently claims eight: Hillsborough, Princeton, Warren, Morristown, Flemington, Bridgewater, Somerset, Bernardsville. Which of those are real?
- Where were your last ten jobs? That list is worth more to us than the one above.
- How far will you actually drive? Is there a town you'd turn down?

Why it matters: with ads you pay for every click. Every dollar spent showing your ad to someone in a town you won't drive to is a dollar gone.

3 THE THREE TESTIMONIALS ON YOUR WEBSITE

ANSWER TODAY

- The site shows "Sarah & Mark T.", "Emily R." and "James P." Are these real customers of yours — yes or no?
- We asked this on the last sheet and haven't heard back. It's the one item that can't wait for the others.
- If they came from whoever built the original site, they come down the same day you tell us.

Why it matters: made-up testimonials in advertising aren't just bad form — they're against the law, and the risk sits with you, not with the person who typed them. Real reviews work better anyway, which is what item 1 is for.

4 THE TWO BEFORE-AND-AFTER PHOTOS — WHERE, AND HOW LONG?

- The primary bath with the arched window and the freestanding tub. What town was it in, and how many weeks did it take?
- The one that had the old oak double vanity. Same two questions.

Why it matters: "Warren, NJ · 6 weeks" under a photo is worth far more than "a bathroom". We'll only write it if you tell us it's true.

5 TWO NUMBERS

- About how many bathrooms do you do in a year?
- Are your build slots actually limited right now? If they're not, we delete that line — we're not saying it if it isn't true.

6 MANAGER ACCESS TO YOUR GOOGLE BUSINESS PROFILE

- Add marcemoyano@gmail.com as a manager on the profile.

Why it matters: two reasons. We need your real review count to put on the page, and profile access is required to switch on Local Services Ads — the ones with the green "Google Guaranteed" badge that sit above everything else. You pay per lead there instead of per click. Now that your licence number is verified, that's the fastest way to get your phone ringing.

7 THE VIDEO

HIGHEST VALUE

- See the other sheet — How to Shoot the Video. Your phone, about 30 seconds, shoot it three times and send all three.
- This matters more than it did last month. The page is now built around you — one man, his own hands, his own name — instead of around a price list. Nothing carries that like 30 seconds of you talking.

8 ONE BUSINESS QUESTION

- Do you want us to run ads for you — and if so, what can you spend a month?
- Rough is fine. It decides whether we turn traffic on now or build up slowly for free.

> Already handled — nothing needed from you: your licence number is live on the site (NJ HIC #13VH08744800, pulled off the new van); the van photos are in; your new portrait replaced the old headshot on every lead page; and every price has come off those pages, as you asked.

Answer 1, 2 and 3 and we can start. The rest can follow.
